Enlace Comunitario

Our Mission:

To transform the lives of individuals and their families experiencing domestic violence by working to decrease gender inequity and intimate partner violence in Central New Mexico's Latinx and immigrant communities

Enlace Comunitario

Enlace is a social justice organization led by Latinx immigrants in Central New Mexico, founded (in 2000) in response to a lack of culturally specific services for the Latinx and immigrant communities.

We provide:

- Culturally and linguistically specific, trauma-informed direct services (in Spanish);
- Prevention-focused community education, outreach, and policy advocacy in collaboration with community partners; and
- Intergenerational, survivor-focused leadership development (Promotoras and Youth Leaders).

Our services are survivor-centered and client-directed to address both household and community pressures, as well as systemic socioeconomic and racial inequities.

Enlace Comunitario

Prevention Department

EC's prevention services operate at community and household levels through leadership development training and educational outreach to promote equitable, gender-affirming practices among parents, youth, and their extended community.

Enlace Comunitario

“WI DON GI MU”

TEWA WOMEN UNITED

We are one

ABOUT TEWA WOMEN UNITED

Tewa Women United envisions movement(s) rooted in P'in Haa (Breath of Heart/Life) and P'in Nall (Touching Heart and Spirit) that nurture and celebrate the collective power of beloved families, communities, and Nung Ochuu Quiyo (Earth Mother).

ABOUT OUR HERSTORY

Through relational-tivity, we embody courageous spaces that center Indigenous women and girls to connect with ancestral knowingness, healing strengths, and lifeways for the wellbeing of all.

Tewa Women United (TWU) started in 1989 as a support group for women from the Pueblos of the northern Rio Grande concerned with the traumatic effects of colonization, religious inquisition, and militarization leading to issues such as alcoholism, suicide, domestic/sexual violence and environmental violence

LIVING OUR VALUES

A'Gin – respect for self and others

Wina ta yay – Together we live these values

Seegi ma vay i – Loving, caring for each other

Kwee-wa seng-wa vi tuu – female/ male energy – ancestral knowingness

Nung Ochuu Quiyo – Our Mother, Mother Earth, multi-versity

Bin mah pah di – Letting go

Wowatsi – Our breath, our prayer, commitment to live life with purpose and good intentions

LEARN ABOUT OUR PROGRAMS

The Environmental Justice Program integrates body, mind, and spiritual awareness into environmental justice advocacy, policy change, and community education while uplifting Indigenous and land-based families and oppressed Peoples to build grassroots leaders and community capacity.

Focus on local, national, and international dialogue and activism on nuclear abolition, human rights, and the rights of our Earth Mother and Sky Father.

ABOUT OUR PROGRAMS

The Reproductive Justice Program creates spaces for open sharing, fostering a collective understanding of challenges in reproductive health equity. We amplify the voices of Indigenous women and historically oppressed communities, valuing their unique perspectives.

Our core vision involves rediscovering and celebrating ancient wisdom, uplifting individuals through ancestral knowingness, traditional healing practices, and educated research. Our vision extends to community prosperity by integrating Indigenous lifeways and contributing to societal health.

ABOUT OUR PROGRAMS

The Gender & Generational Healing Justice Program envisions our home, Northern New Mexico, as a place where people of all genders experience body sovereignty, safety, health, and opportunity. Central to our work is healing the root causes of gender-based violence.

Our prevention-focused projects cultivate consent culture through education and the creation of inclusive community spaces. Being the home of both Tewa Women United's youth and the T'Sayain/Circle of Grandmothers and Wisdomkeepers allows us unique opportunities to weave intergenerational courageous work.
