

WHAT WILL HISTORY SAY ABOUT YOU & YOUR ORGANIZATION?

May 31, 2023

1:00 PM to 03:00 PM ET

Workshop participants will walk away with increased knowledge of the following concepts and movement history:

1. How oppression can manifest across the socio-ecological model and the importance of interrupting the early onset of oppression before it escalates to a macro level.
2. Historical contributions of Black early movement contributors and the values they leaned into that laid a foundation for the anti-violence work that we do today.
3. The negative impact of conflating transparent accountability culture with cancel culture, and the importance of distinguishing the two.
4. Frameworks for centering survivors who are most marginalized within a constantly shifting sociopolitical context.
